This exploded perspective view illustrates the assembly of a handheld electronic device. The main components shown are:

- 132: The top outer casing, featuring a central rectangular display area and a control panel with multiple buttons and a circular joystick on the right side.
- 101: The bottom outer casing, which mirrors the top casing's layout with a display area and a control panel.
- 162: A long, thin bracket or support structure with four circular mounting holes.
- 131: A small rectangular component, likely a hinge or latch, positioned between the two casings.
- 119: A small electronic component, possibly a microcontroller or sensor, located near the bottom casing.
- 141: A small electronic component, possibly a microcontroller or sensor, located near the bottom casing.
- 104: A component with a grid of eight small cylindrical protrusions, possibly a speaker or microphone array.
- 107: A small circular component, possibly a button or a sensor.
- 105: A small circular component, possibly a button or a sensor.
- 106: A complex mechanical assembly, possibly a camera or a sensor module, located at the bottom right.
- 120: A small electronic component, possibly a microcontroller or sensor, located near the bottom casing.
- 134: A small rectangular component, possibly a hinge or latch, positioned between the two casings.
- 108: A small electronic component, possibly a microcontroller or sensor, located near the bottom casing.
- 109: A small electronic component, possibly a microcontroller or sensor, located near the bottom casing.

Dashed lines indicate the assembly path and alignment of the components.
